

CURRICULUM OUTLINE

The following outline lists Wabash courses that are applicable to the distribution requirements named below. This outline is current as of the publication of the Academic Bulletin in August 2024, and is subject to change throughout the 2024-25 academic year.

Note that in some cases repeatable special topics course numbers apply to distribution requirements with some offerings, but not others. In such cases, the offerings that will apply are listed below in parentheses next to the course title. Consult the Registrar's Office (registrar@wabash.edu) with any questions about the applicability of any course offering to a requirement.

A student earning credit in an offering that applies to the Global Citizenship, Justice, and Diversity distribution requirement (listed in III. G. of this outline) may also apply that same credit to one additional distribution requirement, if the offering also applies in another distribution area. In all other instances where an offering applies to multiple distribution areas, a student may apply a single credit to only one distribution requirement. Any offering that applies to a distribution requirement may also be applied as either one requirement of a major or one requirement of a minor.

IV. Major

The major consists of no more than nine course credits and may additionally require co-requisite or collateral courses in allied fields. No more than 11 course credits within a department are allowed towards the 34 course credits required for graduation. For every credit a student goes beyond 11 course credits in their major department, they are required to complete another credit towards graduation. For example, if a student has 12 course credits in the department of the major, then he will have to complete 35 course credits for graduation. For majors in world languages and literatures, courses numbered 101 and 102 are not included in the 11 course limit on the major.

V. Minor

The minor consists of no less than five and up to eight course credits, and may additionally require co-requisite or collateral courses in allied fields.

VI. Minimum of 34 course credits

At least 18 of the 34 course credits must be earned at Wabash College, and with at least a 2.00 cumulative GPA. All course credits earned in approved off-campus study or by Wabash examination will be considered Wabash course credits. Once a student begins studies at Wabash College, no more than a total of 10 course credits will be accepted in transfer. A transfer student beginning studies at Wabash College may transfer 10-16 prior credits earned to Wabash upon initial enrollment, and complete the balance of his course credits at Wabash.

VII. Comprehensive Examination

- Senior Written Examination
- Senior Oral Examination
